

Abstract:

A tire measuring device has a converter for converting the ambient energy to an alternating value, and a reflector that can be modulated by the alternating 5 value.